Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Lower Our Standard? Never I thank God that the press of this country is open for a free discussion of all important subjects. I grieve to disagree with some of my good friends, but I yield to no man in patriotism, therefore as I am not hunting for office I do not fear to charge some of the leaders of the great American Bankers Association with side tracking free discussion of the all important currency question at the last annual meeting in St. Louis. Although open discussion was announced upon the program for Wednesday and also on Thursday, all discussion was postponed from Wednesday to Thursday except two addresses, both favoring asset currency, and then from Thursday to Friday as a special order at 10 A. M. Even then two addresses on other subjects filled the period till 11 A. M., and because the Association was to adjourn at 1 P. M. discussion was limited to five minutes for each speaker. How could any one expect anything like an intelligent or free discussion of this topic under such conditions? From free comments on the part of members on every hand during the convention, one could draw no other conclusion than that the perpetuation of place and power for the insiders rose higher than weighty matters of great import to the nation. The wire pulling could almost out-Tammany Tammany. It did not cease after the convention adjourned, but packed a currency committee which brought forth what consistently can be called a wild cat currency plan that Congress would not swallow. Perhaps the members of Congress had been listening to the ground-swell against the heresy of an...
