Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Battle of Milliken s Bend: And Some Reflections Concerning the Colored Troops, the Debt We Owe Them, and How We Paid It On the subject stated, this paper was prepared and read on due invitation of the Ohio Department of the Loyal Legion of the United States. Immediately after its reading it was duly complimented; and, according to custom, on motion and without dissenting voice, its publication by the Legion in due course was ordered. Several days later I was surprised by a notice that a brave and chivalrous member who had sat close by during the reading, etc., and kept profoundly mum, had entered protest against publication under the sanction of the Legion. The story of the trial that ensued would be too lengthy for profit. Of it suffice it to say: The Legion experienced a change of heart and reversed itself - figuratively at least - washed its hands of it and placed my paper on the index prohibitorius! Ostensibly this remarkable change was on the ground that something said of the 23d Iowa Regiment was in conflict with the records of the War Department, which, true or false must be held sacred by the Legion, - as intolerant, absurd and obstructive of truth, it seems to me as oldtime insistence that nothing should be printed, taught or said in conflict with theological science. But, without spectacles, it seemed easy to read between the lines of the discussion that the kick was largely, if not mainly, on account of lingering prejudice against giving the negro a square deal. Hence, having been led by said order to promise copies to several of my...
